Product description

Panasonic 5038 is the LCD display of the EBL512 G3 fire alarm control panel. The display is located in the front panel of the control panel behind the acrylic cover and is intended as a spare part.

The display shows, among other things, the fire brigade panel information: the upper part of the display shows how alarm points or zones have been activated, and the middle part shows fire alarms by alarm point or by zone together with the programmed alarm text. The display is also used for commissioning, monthly tests and maintenance carried out via the operating panel.

Installation

The display is connected to connectors J9 and J4 on the 5015 display board (MMI board). The display contrast is adjusted with potentiometer VR2 on the display board. The display is intended for 5000S series EBL512 G3 control panels; type 5001 has no display.
