Product description

SENSORKIT-GH is Panasonic's Grizzle sensor kit for the Aspect AE2010 aspirating smoke detector. The kit contains a fan and a sensor part, and its sensitivity classes are B+/B (clean environments). According to Panasonic's technical description, the sensor kit is replaced when the detector gives service code 7 or 8, when the fan is damaged or contaminated, or when the detector's properties are to be changed, for example sensitivity or noise level.

The SensorKit tool, which allows replacement with the detector still on the wall, comes with the sensor kit order. Grizzle and Nitro sensor kits are not interchangeable. The installed sensor kit is selected in the settings with the Aspect Tool app.
